To Go

It was for charity. Be a barista for the day. Both coffee hounds jumped at the chance.

"Welcome to Starbucks. Home of the fresh pot." He said into the mic with humor in his voice.

"Like to try your fresh pot." David winked at the brunette.

The drive-thru was backed up for miles, each fan getting his glimpse.

"I want the chocolate and the caramel. I've already had the blonde roast."

The baristas found a ginger at the wheel, a blonde bound and gagged in the backseat. They climbed out the drive-thru window.

This was a to-go order.
